"A masterful probe of the human complex" TR

"Cleverly woven, beautifully written" MAF

Theater of the Mind takes place on an evening at an Off Off Broadway theater. The novel focuses on three couples- a thirty-two year old female lawyer and her arrogant lawyer boyfriend, two young women in their early twenties who decide to take a night off from the singles bar scene, and a theater arts student and his girlfriend who is a recovering heroin addict.

Twelve provocative scenes are presented. During the mini entr'actes each of the six highlighted characters has his own thoughts, which go beyond the content of the plays to their own issues and insecurities.

One of the young women has a connection with the others, and they end the evening together in a coffee shop. They each try to put to use what he/she thinks they have learned from their introspective evening.

The magic of the production blurs the line between reality and fantasy until the present is inseparable from the fiction of the plays.
